SAMPLE ANSWERS:

- In my opinion the best idea would be to rent a three-bedroom flat with a living room, a kitchen and a bathroom. We could look for another flatmate and divide the costs of living. I can afford to pay about 200 pounds per month for the rent, do you think it will be enough?

- I think that the flat should be located near the bus station or an underground station, so we could easily travel everywhere, to university or work.

- We don't have to rent a flat near a shopping centre, a small shop where we could do shopping for necessary things would be OK, what do you think?
However, I would be glad if near the flat there would be a sports centre where I could keep fit.

- Like I mentioned earlier we should look for another flatmate, we will share the bills and off course the housework duties. Do you agree?
